HANGING overhead cables of television and internet service providers continue to pose a threat to the public in the city. "I was heading home after picking up my wife when a cable entangled around my neck. We both fell on the road and suffered minor injuries. Luckily my wife was wearing a helmet. I had a narrow escape as I was riding the bike slowly," said Sabu, a former contractor of Cochin Shipyard Ltd.

It is the negligence of the authorities who permit television and internet service providers to lay cables in an irresponsible manner. I had passed by the stretch 20 minutes ago and there was no cable. I don't know from where it appeared.

the corporation secretary directing to remove the overhanging cables within six months. "The works standing committee and engineering wing of the corporation removed 80% of overhead hanging cables in the city," said Smita Dixit, chairperson of the public works standing committee.

The project will help protect the coast and sustain the livelihood of the fishermen, he said while attending a discussion held on the Coast campus on Tuesday. The study by Madras IT has recommended an offshore breakwater project that includes the construction of seawalls and groynes to protect the

Edappally flyover not sufficient to reduce traffic congestion: HC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Kochi

KERALA High Court has observed that the flyover at Edappally is not enough to handle the exponential increase in traffic in the city.

The court made the observation while considering a petition seeking to take effective steps to prevent illegal and unauthorised parking of vehicles on the service roads on either side of the National Highway bypass between Gold Souk and Edappally Lulu Mall Junction.

The petitioner submitted that, besides unauthorised parking, a makeshift arrangement made by the traffic police for going to the Lulu Mall by providing a U-turn facility also hampers the flow of traffic on the highway.

sorted out had the Kochi Metro been extended to Kochi airport. The distance between Aluva and Kochi airport is only 7 km.

Passengers going to the airport are forced to take a longer route through Container Road which is mostly used by heavy vehicles. The road towards the airport is also not that wide to accommodate more traffic.

The KMRL submitted that the petitioner's contention that heavy traffic block at Edappally was due to the uncapacitated construction of an overbridge was an imple statement liable to be rejected at the threshold itself.

In fact, Edappally Junction, which was infamous for traffic congestion, accidents and unending traffic blocks, has become decongested only because of the construction of a flyover there, the KMRL stated.

Buffer zone: MLA writes to Kochi corp

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Kochi

AT a time when controversy is raging over the demarcation of 1-km buffer zone around wildlife sanctuaries and national parks, Ernakulam MLA T J Vinodh has asked the Kochi corporation to express its concern as the Mangalavanam bird sanctuary is situated within the limits of the civic body.

He said nearly 2,500 buildings, including the High Court, located near the Mangalavanam bird sanctuary will be affected if the buffer zone rule is implemented.

"As per the government order, local bodies have to inform the forest department if there are any buffer zones that come within inhabited areas. For this, a committee comprising ward members, forest officers, and village officers should be constituted. However, no steps

Vision-impaired student seeks help to achieve his dreams

P BANOAS gillies

BRINGING 80% visually impaired have stopped Arjun K Kumar, a native of Vyyur in Thrissur, from dreaming to become a law student. He not only pursued a degree in Law from Thrissur Law College with high marks but even got admission to LL.M under the special reservation category at the Ernakulam Law College.

However, the distance from his native place to the college is playing spoilsport in his dream. "I cannot travel such a long distance without help from others. Being a daily wage worker, it is difficult for my father to accompany me everyday. My mother on the other hand is suffering from asthma and rheumatic pain. So it is practically impossible for me to attend the classes daily," says Arjun.

The path has now approached the law college from my home in the Government Law College, Thrissur, which is at a distance of only 3km. To attend the classes at the Government Law College, Ernakulam, I have to first reach Thrissur KSRTC stand and a private bus from Vyyur. Thereafter, I have to again travel from Thrissur by KSRTC bus to Ernakulam. The college is at a distance of 3.5km from the bus stand.
